

Camozzi Fittings

Camozzi's standard range of fittings includes rapid, super rapid, and universal options, accessories, quick-release brass, technopolymer, and stainless-steel couplings.

Each component guarantees reliable sealing over time, minimising the risk of leakages. The range comprises various shapes and configurations, making mounting on any device or machine easy.

Series 5000 quick-release couplings are ideal when tubing needs to be repeatedly connected or disconnected for plant engineering or safety reasons. These couplings make it possible to perform these operations without releasing the pressure, saving valuable time.
